THE CLARA HASKIL COMPETITION

The Competition's purpose is to discover young talent capable of representing the Competition's values: musicality, sensitivity, humility, constant re-evaluation, ceaseless striving for excellence, attention to partners and respect for the composer.

These values are inspired by the life and career of Clara Haskil, a Swiss pianist born in Bucharest, Romania in 1895 and who died in Brussels in 1960.

The early competitions were held in Lucerne; since 1973 they have been held in Vevey, where Clara Haskil lived from 1942 until her death. A street in Vevey bears her name.

COMPETITION PROGRAMME

The competition programme reflects Clara Haskil's vast repertoire through a recital, a chamber music test and a concerto with orchestra.

All competition concerts can be watched live or as recordings on the competition website: www.clara-haskil.ch

CLARA HASKIL PRIZE

The Clara Haskil Competition only awards one Clara Haskil Prize, which cannot be shared; the jury may, however, decide not to award the prize. The winner will receive CHF 25,000. The other finalists will each receive CHF 5,000.

The finals, with orchestra, will be held on Friday 30 August 2019 in collaboration with the Septembre Musical Montreux-Vevey and will be broadcast by Radio Télévision Suisse – Espace 2.

PUBLIC PRIZE

During the finals of the competition the public will have the opportunity to vote for the candidate of their choice. The Public Prize will be awarded to the candidate obtaining the greatest number of votes. The prize will be shared in the event of a tie. The prize amounts to CHF 3,000.

MODERN TIMES PRIZE

Inaugurated in 2013, this prize is awarded for the best interpretation of a work specially commissioned for the competition. It amounts to CHF 3,000, and will be awarded by the jury to the best performance of the work during the finals. The piece for 2019 will be composed by Thierry Escaich.

COUP DE CŒUR PRIZE

A panel of students, known as La Jeune Critique, has been put together as part of an academic project with the Universities of Geneva and Lausanne and the Geneva University of Music. One of its tasks is to award the "Coup de cœur" prize, amounting to CHF 3,000.

CHILDREN'S CORNER PRIZE

As a collaboration with the Vevey Conservatoire, un jury of young children studying piano will award their "Children's Corner" Prize, for an amount of CHF 2'000.

ENGAGEMENTS

The Competition will strive to establish partnerships with various concert organisers and orchestras in order to propose concerts to the winner of the Clara Haskil Prize. The Competition is furthermore prepared to help the winner to find a concert agency with which he or she can collaborate.
